Letters from the South—No. 111.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY, N. C., Sept. 3, 1868.

Editors Morning Herald:

Any person coming here from the north country is sure to make the discovery that we are hundreds of years behind the world. The people all know it but don't try to make up the time, or commence now and take one every start with the present age. Inventive genius is entirely wanting, and many resources have yet to be developed to bring to light even what is in the importance emanating from an idea. There are excellent copy sets, however, and to what it lies with present worthy is lazy. Fortunately their grandfathers still continue to be the rebel army pensioners, thrift and industry and thus it happens that they do as their grandfathers did in all things. Still the war has been a new turn given to [illegible] class. Previous [illegible] there, an understand [illegible] always exist north of Mason and Dixon. The Late Earthquake in Peru.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.

Master O. White, of the U. S. steamer Wateree, arrived this morning as bearer of dispatches from Admiral Turner giving details of the late earthquake on the Pacific coast, South America, most of which have been published. Mr. White left Arica on the 16th of August. The report encloses others from Commander Gellis, of the Wateree, and Capt. Doty, of the Fredonia. Commander Gellis reports his vessel forced on shore at twenty minutes past seven in the evening; but one of the crew is known to have perished, though several are missing, they having been sent ashore to render assistance and not having returned. The crew of the Wateree remained on board during the day time, but as there is a continued re-occurrence of shock, and the Peruvian corvette America lies broadside, almost directly in front of her, and if another heavy sea should occur, the Wateree would be crushed. Precautions are taken to remove the officers and crew on shore for the night.

Admiral Turner's report is dated Allo, on board Powhattan, August 20th. He would sail next day for Arica and keep on a strong head of steam while there so as to be able to put to sea at a moments warning on the approach of any danger. Admiral Turner had an interview with the President of the Republic on the 20th and proffered his services to take down provisions, stores and nurses to the extent of the capacity of his ship. There is not a vestige left of the Fredonia. The last seen of her she was being carried entirely around the Island of Alasatta where she must have gone to pieces on its shores. It would cost more than the original value of the Wateree to extricate her, and the undertaking would probably be useless as the ship is much strained, though the hull is perfect. The bodies of Acting Master Organ and five of the crew of the Fredonia have been washed ashore and Captain Gillis was making arrangements for their burial.

The following only of the officers and crew of the Fredonia remain alive: Captain G. W. Doty, Paymaster W. W. Williams, Post Assistant Surgeon F. L. Dulsois, Master-at-Arms Charles S. Seville, and Quartermaster August Torner.

Capt. Doty informs the Navy Department under date of August 16th, that he thought it best to remain at Arica to look out for the remains of his crew and give them decent burial.

Personal.

The Secretary of War has directed Gen. Hooker to repair to New York City and report for examination before the Retiring Board.

District Attorney Courtney remains in Washington. He was at the War Department the greater portion of the day.

PETROLEUM MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE MORNING HERALD, TITUSVILLE, September 14, 1868—P. M.

There was some activity on the Creek today, but nearly all the transactions were effected at a decline of from ten to twenty cents from the inside quotations of Saturday. The decline coupled with nothing of an improvement in tone in the outside market caused a slightly better demand, and at the close offers to purchase were made at the lowest prices reached during the day. The following were the sales: 1,000 barrels at Oil City at $4.00 on narrow gauge cars, 350 barrels at Gregg's Switch, at $3 65; 1,000 barrels at Titusville from Pleasantville; at $3 60; 2,850 barrels on narrow gague cars at Oil City, at $4.00; 1,000 barrels at Titusville from Pleasantville, at $3.50; 1,000 barrels at Pleasantville at $3.25. At Titusville no sales were reported from Church Run, but sellers were asking $4 00 on the cars.
